Where No One Dared : We Stood Up

When the COVID-19 pandemic struck out of the blue,
Keeping it at bay and managing it – nobody had any clue.
With chaos around there was a lurking fear
People started distancing as the VIRUS hovered near.

The situation called for steady hands and caring hearts
Foot soldiers on grounds, committed brave the hardships
We NCC cadets of S K Bn stepped out at the clarion call
In this time of crisis, for our duty we stood firm and tall.

Marching ahead in our too-walled boots
Pledged to our nation, our people and our motto.
Along with the Health, Police and Forest officials
Cadets with purpose – we proved to be the heroes so real.

Steady and resolute, we stood at the Muthanga check post
Rendering yeoman service – which today we can proudly boast.

It was the early May, 2020 when the Virus was still new and the fear was absolute. When the nation was going from one lockdown to another and no one dared to step out of their house fearing for their lives. It was the time when I got a call from my ANO asking me if I would like to volunteer for Ex Yagadan and help the civil administration in managing the Muthanga check post. At first it looked like a regular NCC task but when I was told that we have to stay at the check post for 14 days and another 14 days in quarantine, it was then that the magnitude and severity of the task struck me.

Voyage to the Old Age Home: Our Homage

I always admired people in uniform – their courage, their grit, their energy and their enthusiasm, but hardly did I know that donning the uniform does not just make men of steel but also enthuse in them emotion, passion and compassion. NCC, to me has been a stepping stone and has literally come to me like a philosopher's touchstone. My life has been transformed and I have metamorphosed into a more rounded, humane and compassionate self. NCC has bestowed upon me wonderful opportunities and given me myriad platforms to act and interact. One such occasion was our visit to the old age home which taught me great lessons of life as I traversed through a plethora of emotions bringing back with me pearls of wisdom. My experiences at the old age home cannot be limited to prosaic writing and refuse to be caged, cabined and confined in a traditional article. It could best be expressed in this outpour of emotions:

It was our NCC group visit to an old age home,
Where we encountered modern life's syndrome.

We met old people, so isolated, alone & forlorn
Longing to belong, they were emotionally torn.

Their age had assuaged and made them frail,
Each wrinkle on their face had own little tale.

They were leading their lives quietly, in surrender to their past
Their very men had abandoned them with only memories to last.

We were strangers to them but in us they saw their own loved ones
And showered us with their long-stored love and blessings in tons.

Our gestures and actions were perceived as noble deed
We spoke to them and took them to the dining hall to feed.

Some held our hands, on our shoulders some insest
As we fed them each morsel and their faces we cleaned.

We were their windows to the outside world
Through us they wanted their families' stories unspooled.

Respected Netaji

I am Abhiram krishna. I am a big fan and a great follower of you. I had read and here heard many inspiring stories about you. You are one of the great legend I have ever seen. The each and every decision by you had made great changes in our country.

The efforts and sacrifices made by you to make Indian national army (INA), hats off to you Netaji. The days of prisons and sacrifices had the increased others spirit to get freedom. You thought the people to see the dream of freedom. "Give me your blood I will give u freedom." The valuable words by you. You had played a major role in getting freedom to us

Even if the years passes the inspiring stories about you will never dies. The upcoming generation will glorify you and your inspiring stories. You may be far from us but still you are very close to my heart. Let this days fall down, years fly away, but you will never die.

Thanking you
Your's faithfully
